COURSE DESCRIPTION

An entry course designed to assist students developing the necessary foundations: personal, spiritual, and ministerial for life-long ministry. Students will engage in assessment of their gifts and passions in ministry and will encounter some basic approaches to effective ministry such as strategic, financial and physical planning for ministry, communication and relational skills; and team and staff building.

COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon successful completion of this course students will be able to:

1. Gain perspective concerning God's past and present shaping of the student's life in the following areas:
 - Spiritual gifts and calling
 - Personality development
 - Life experiences
 - Character development
2. Identify personal and ministry strengths and growing edges
3. Devise a specific plan for developing strengths and addressing growing edges through the experience of theological education.
4. Demonstrate a personal understanding of the unique challenges and opportunities of vocational or volunteer ministry and plan personal strategies for becoming adequately prepared to respond to them.
5. Demonstrate a growing grasp of the fundamentals of effective ministry and leadership in the church:
 - Time management skills and strategic planning
 - Relationship and communication skills
 - Capacity for administrative oversight of the financial and physical aspects of ministry and its growth
 - Team and staff building and capacity for delegation and supervision

REQUIRED COURSE COMPONENTS

The student will be exposed to the following basic subject areas:

- A biblical, theological, and practical understanding of calling and the challenges and opportunities of a career in ministry.
- The Five Dimensions of Christian Leadership Formation adopted by the Seminary.
- A theology and personal understanding of human differences, spiritual gifts, and personal development.
- Doctrinal and organizational principles for leading and managing a local church ministry
- Promising practices for church leaders in relationships, communication, and change

The student will be expected to master the following skills and/or minimum content:

- Assessment of self in the following areas
 - Spiritual gifts
 - Personality type
 - Personal and ministry strengths and growing edges
 - Self understanding of call, including purpose, values, and vision
 - Plan for personal and professional growth during seminary
- Assessment of leadership/management skills for local church ministry

These will be demonstrated through:

- Processing self-assessment items in a group context.

The student will be expected to develop a conceptual framework for:

- The role various experiences and people play in personal and spiritual development
- A theology of human differences and how they contribute to the proper functioning of the Church and its Kingdom mission.
- A Baptist ecclesiology which sees the pastor/leaders as administer/equippers and the members as member-ministers.
- A missional view of the church as sent into the local context and as sending out into global contexts for evangelism and church planting.

The student will demonstrate affective growth in the following areas:

- Greater understanding and appreciation of oneself
- Appreciation for the value of others who differ from him/her, and a commitment to positive relationships within the Christian community.
- Acceptance of the potential positive outcomes of painful experiences in one's life
- Demonstrate a commitment to fulfill God's calling on one's life within the missional community.
